Since his retirement from railroad work in 1900, he had been identified with the lumber industry in Minnesota and in the northwest being president of the Pacific Northwest Lumber Co.

GREATEST HORSE IN WORLD FLETCHERIZES HIS FOOD—LIVES LIKE A KING—CARED FOR LIKE A BABY

By LORRY A. JACOBS
N. E. A. Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, July 14.—Man o' War, the greatest race-horse that ever graced a race-track, is a typical New Yorker. That is to say, he eats too fast. So, in order to break him from such a bad habit, his trainer, Louis Feustel, conceived the idea of making him eat with a bit in his mouth and putting chopped hay with his oats, with the result that Man o' War Fletcherizes in a very improved fashion.

All of which leads up to the fact that Man o' War is cared for like a king. Man o' War is trained by Louis Feustel, one of the greatest of the younger school of horse trainers. His personal caretaker is Frank Loftus, one of the famous Loftus family, and Clive Gordon is on the back of the Riddle animal during the workouts on the track. Practically all of the time of each is put in with the famous horse.

AN EARLY "BEEK"
The Babe Ruth of the racetrack has his first meal somewhat earlier than you or I—at 2.30 in the morning—and he gets two and one-half quarts of clipped oats, mixed with chopped hay. Then he is allowed to snooze until 7.30.

His bandages are then removed, his body massaged with a hair brush, the kinks taken out of his mane, and his face and nostrils washed.

MORNING SPIN
At 8.30 he goes out for his morning spin. Three times a week he is merely allowed to canter, but on the other three he is given a real workout at good paces. Then comes the rubdown of alcohol, arnica and witch-hazel. His

JACK JOHNSON IS READY TO SURRENDER

LOS ANGELES, July 14.—Jack Johnson, former heavyweight champion of the world, and now a fugitive from justice, is expected to return to the United States and surrender without conditions in a few days, according to a U. S. District Attorney's official here.

Mr. O'Connor said he had just received a report from a federal investigator that Jack Johnson had been seen in the United States and that he was ready to surrender.

COMMISSION WON'T INSIST ON ANSWER TO QUESTIONS

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Representatives of the soft wood lumber industry were told at a conference yesterday with the federal trade commission that pending decision in litigation involving the American Lumber Co., no attempt would be made to enforce or collect penalties for the refusal of any industry to answer the commission's trade questionnaire.

'STAMPEDE' OF DELEGATES FOR COX WAS SURPRISE

CHARLESTON, W. Va., July 13.—Plans had been made to turn the tide in the Democratic national convention in the person of John W. Davis, ambassador to Great Britain, on the 45th ballot, had Governor Cox failed to be nominated on the 44th. Governor J. J. C. Davis declared here today.

50,000 DOLARS
NEW YORK.—Leading American turfmen are planning a $50,000 derby for Belmont park next year. Joseph E. Widener strongly advocates rich stakes.

ANOTHER BANCROFT
LOS ANGELES.—Dick Kincaid, scout for the Giants, looked over Johnny Mitchell, shortstop of the Vernon Tigers, and opined that the boy was a second Dave Bancroft.

Being the greatest horse in the whole world certainly has its responsibilities. The blue-blooded turf star lives like a prima donna of the stage. His eyes are as brilliant as the stars in a midnight sky and his skin like the velvet satin of a robe. Samuel D. Riddle of Glen Riddle, Pa., is the owner of the great three-year-old. That's him holding the silver bit as he admires the biggest chattel in thoroughbred. Louis Feustel is chopping up the sweet feed every particle of it. His chocs are forged of the bluest of steel by the most careful of shoemiths. Frank Loftus is shown in the picture applying the bandages to the wonder limbs of the horse that has come to be both his pal and religion. Surely no baby ever receives more delicate care than Man o' War gets. After the mercury-footed colt had galloped a new world's record at Belmont Park—2:14.15 for a mile and three furlongs—Riddle was handed a blank check and asked to write in his own figures for his champion colt—but he returned it without the quiver of an eyelash.

TWELVE BICYCLE RIDERS TO RACE

ANTWERP, July 13.—America will have twelve opponents in the bicycle race and ten in the Velodrome track events held here today.

Among the contestants will be some of the best amateur cyclists on this side of the Atlantic, including Pekra, the famous Dutchman, who has been winning all over Europe.

Olympic committees today announced the following nations had entered the Velodrome events to be held August 9 and 10.

Great Britain, the United States, Holland, Denmark, Italy, South Africa, Canada, Luxembourg, Switzerland, Poland and France.

All of these except Switzerland will compete in the 170 kilometer road race on August 12. Czechoslovakia, Norway and Sweden have entered for the road race, but not for the Velodrome contests.

After much confusion due to clerical errors, it has been finally announced that the polo matches at Ostend will be played from July 24 to 31, instead of the dates in August which were announced last week. This will be the first time in the history of polo that five national teams have engaged in a tournament. America, Belgium, France, Great Britain and Spain will be represented.

Although the names of her participants have not as yet been received, America, according to the Olympic committee, has also entered the archery target events, which will be held here from August 3 to August 8. Only two other nations, Holland and France have teams entered for this feature.

Portland..... 0 3 0 Salt Lake..... 5 11 0 Batteries: Brooks, Kallio and Tobin; Bromley and Byler.

WHAT THEY SAY

JACK CURLEY
Monsieur Jacques Curley defends the public in panning him for shooting dollars into a bag instead of rights to the chin. He says:
"About the only crime Georges has committed since he arrived in America last March was to fulfill in every detail the contracts which were made before he left France. When Dempsey picture and filled his eight weeks' tour of America for me. I never was associated with nor handled an attraction with more pleasure and less trouble. He more than made good every promise he made. As regards the future, remember that he has signed to meet Battling Levinsky. And Georges regards a contract as more than a mere scrap of paper."

JACK KEARNS
That Jack Kearns and Dempsey hold no ill feeling toward the American Legion is best told in one of their "wo" letters. Kearns says:
"We have received letters of congratulation from Legion posts and commanders from all parts of the country. Finding of the Legion as Dempsey's acquittal in the courts. We have every reason to believe that a few jealous individuals were at the bottom of the whole mess. When Dempsey signed his questionnaire he was supporting his aged father—70 years old—and lived in a small room with the rest of his family. The scanty furniture which filled the room was unpaid for. Then suddenly Jack went from poverty to sudden riches. He knocked out Fulton and was given a chance at the title. He made good, as the whole world knows. Now that he is free again he will give Carpenter a chance to sign, and if he refuses will give all Americans who speak up, a chance."

FRENCH CRITIC
One of the leading sport critics of a French journal explains Carpenter's present position as a case of poor health. He says:
"I am not living in Paris now but make a trip there occasionally. On my last visit, which was shortly before Carpenter sailed for America, I was able to fight Jack Dempsey. I learned that there was an incessant rumor that he would never fight Dempsey. His manager, Deschamps, and his physician, realizing that he would never cover his pre-war strength and health, had decided the trip to America for money purposes only. At first I placed little credence in such a fool story and simply wished in my heart that Carpenter would come back fast and strong as he was before he enlisted on that memorable July 1914, after he fought and whipped Gunbeat Smith. If not, his fight with Dempsey will be a slaughter. Being a loyal Frenchman, I am afflicted by the thought."

The National debts of the world aggregated, before the war, the sum of $42,000,000,000.

WEARS HIS BOOTS.
When he goes out for a walk, he wears boots, and, of course, bandages all of the time when he is not in action. His "clothes" are "tailor-made" especially for him, and if the weather is cool at night he is clothed in woolens instead of soft cotton.

Nearest to his collar is Loftus. Man o' War is not Man o' War to him but simply "Red" and the great king of horses answers readily to that name. He has been taught a number of tricks and carries Loftus' hat between his teeth in regular trick horse fashion. His chief delight, like most horses, is a jump of sugar, although he sometimes prefers an orange.

GOOD NATURED.
"Man o' War is the best natured horse I have ever seen, as well as being the greatest horse the world has ever known," says Loftus. "I have yet to see him in a bad humor, and he's like a baby after winning a race, he loves it so."

The champion will never leave this country, according to an assurance just made by his owner, Samuel Riddle, thus assuring the fact that he will probably earn $200,000—the greatest winning of any horse in history.

PACER HANGS UP NEW WORLD'S RECORD

TOLEDO, July 13.—A new world's record for three year old pacing geldings has been set at the Fort Miami track this afternoon when Riddle's gelding, carrying the colors of the Lon McDonald stable, paced the first mile in 2:05.14, cutting a quarter second off the record held by Direct The Work made at Lexington two years ago.

King Wags, owned by George E. Bailey of Youngstown, Ohio, and driven by Lon McDonald, won the Tremont 2:12 trot, $5,000 stake.

Going away in the first heat, Driver Hyde who was driving Eliza Dillon, was thrown in a collision and slight cut about the head. Calgary Earl won the 2:07 pace in straight heats while Charlie Red captured the 2:07 trot. Riddle's gelding won the three year old pace in one, two, three order.

YALE MAN VICTOR IN OLYMPIC BOXING FINAL

NEW YORK, July 13.—Edward P. Eagan of Yale, and William Spengler of New York, tonight won the finals of the Olympic boxing bouts in the 175 pound and heavyweight classes respectively. The finals of the other classes will be decided tomorrow night. Eagan was awarded the judges' decision after a lively bout with Sergeant Ted Schneider, U. S. A. while Spengler, member of the New York police club, won the third year old pace in one, two, three order.

ARM OF MAN FOUND NEAR NIAGARA FALLS

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., July 13.—The right arm of a man was taken from the Niagara river near the Canadian Maid of the Mist landing yesterday. It is believed to be part of the body of George C. Stephens of Bristol, England, killed Sunday in an attempt to go over the Horseshoe Falls in a barrel.

Several tattoo marks were on the arm, but no one who saw Stephens here was able to make positive identification. Finding of the arm revived hope that the rest of Stephens' body might be found. Practically all of Stephens' death craft has now been found.

SPORT TITRICAL

Whanking the agate is the chief pastime of all 1920 ball players. Never in the history of the game has the horse been subject to such a steady treatment of willow and smack. The onslaught began in April. Skeptical individuals said the game was about to begin to flow in the pitchers' whips and the fusillade would fade out to its normal morning glory colors. But the barrage of blows still flows on like an unabated spring freshet. To date there has been something over 247 four-base drives made in the major league orchards. In June the crop yield was 142. Yes, June was a rare old month for the apple knockers. Longer hits are being tapped out than have ever been measured before.

Some give the answer that it's a trick ball that has been put on the 1920 market. Others blame the ostracizing of freak pitching, and then there's the psychology of "bust" which has been injected into the game by the king of all wall-poppers—GEORGE BABE RUTH.

You can take your pick but get this straight: It is psychology that is mainly responsible for the music and BABE is the great teacher—the leader whose baton has set the pace of the most wonderful piece of jazz music ever played on a ball park record.

You'll remember they built a long-range gun which terrified Jay Parree. Well, Babe has the combination and the secret leaked out.

WILD THROW BEATS BROOKLYN

Cincinnati Bunches Hits and Wins From Philadelphia Nationals.

CHICAGO, July 13.—Elliott's throw to center field in an attempt to catch Robertson off second base in the ninth gave the locals two runs and enabled them to defeat Brooklyn today, 3 to 2.
